

English

Bachelor of Arts
School of Arts & Sciences

Short introduction (So what?, Why?, and Sexy Point)

50-100 words

A dynamic degree that offers students the chance to study in the heart of London and engage with its literary history. Our teaching is of the highest quality and our modules cover the global history of literatures in English. The program introduces students to a range of theoretical and historical approaches to literary study. This degree will develop essential skills in critical thinking, expression and research. Graduates develop transferable analytical and communications skills making them highly desirable to employers across a range of sectors. Central London location offers access to Shakespeare's Globe, and countless other sites and buildings with literary associations.

Link: Visit the English Department website.

Maybe include a testimonial of the program (see below) or a video of some sort.

"I always knew that I wanted to be a writer and study literature, but Westminster really helped me to shape those abstract visions into concrete realities." —Jane Smith ('08)

About the Program

Include stats about class sizes and other interesting info like Xavier.

Brief description (learning goals, specializations, etc.)

50-100 words

Ranging from canonical figures to recent rediscoveries and the newest of new writing, from London to Scotland, Ireland, America, India, Australia and beyond, studying English at King's allows you to encounter literature up close and as part of a network that stretches across the centuries and across the globe. We pride ourselves not only on the range and diversity of the modules we offer, from medieval literature to contemporary poetry and creative writing, but also on the diversity of the approaches we employ, combining contemporary literary theory, close textual examination and historical scholarship.*

**Could include/be bulleted list*

Plan of Study (structure, curriculum, timeline, etc.)

Infographic

This should have a timeline, a list of courses for the entire program, and an outline of any specializations (reference RISD and Xavier for ideas—I like Xavier’s tabs/popups).

Sample Courses (if applicable)

List and describe any interesting courses (2 max.) that help “sell” the program (see below).

Cosmic Rebellion in Lit & Film

This course explores the aesthetic, ethical, and political implications of rebelling against the cosmos, beginning with Satan's rebellion against God and his temptation of Eve and Adam in Milton's Paradise Lost. We will trace cosmic rebellion from Milton through the western literary and cinematic traditions, including works such as Mary Shelley's Frankenstein and Ridley Scott's Blade Runner.*

**Approx. 50 words*

Career Opportunities

Include stats in this section like Xavier (e.g., alum employment rates, etc.).

Potential Careers

50 words maximum—mostly bullet points of careers

English is a flexible and adaptable subject that equips you with a wide range of transferable skills appropriate to many different occupations. Graduates in English possess skills in written and spoken communication, independent thought and judgment, critical thinking and research. English graduates have a wide range of jobs and industries to choose from, including:

- Journalism
- Publishing
- Libraries
- Education

Student Success

Approximately 50 words (not including testimonials)—mostly bullet points of success (only include the brag-worthy) and testimonials

Recent graduates have pursued careers as...

- Copy editor, University of Nebraska-Press
- English Teacher, St Giles College
- Graduate Management Trainee, Sotheby's
- Lecturer, King's College London and other UK universities
- Librarian, London Borough of Barnet
- Marketing Executive, Ensphere
- Content Editor, Thomson Reuters UK Professional

"I taught in a charter school in Salt Lake; I worked as a journalist in Los Angeles where I interviewed actors and directors like James Franco, Harmony Korine, and Joseph Cross; I reviewed fashion shows in New York City and wrote features on RHUDE, END, Douglass Peret, and Jeremy Scott for Milk Studios, Dossier Journal, and VICE Magazine; and I'm now teaching undergraduate literature at the University of Iowa. I'm not sure that I could have done any of this without the opportunities Westminster helped me to have." —Jane Smith ('08)

Affordability

Short introduction (Westminster's commitment to value and affordability)

50-100 words

It's true. At Westminster, we are firmly committed to making our top-ranked private college an affordable choice for every admitted student, regardless of a family's financial means. If you qualify for admittance to Westminster, we will work with you—individually—through every step of the financial aid process. We will help you to identify all the achievement-based scholarships and need-based grants and loans for which you are eligible and walk you through the application process.

Tuition and Fees

Full-time annual tuition (12–16 credits)
$16,052 (2016/17)*

For further undergraduate funding information, please visit our fees and funding webpages.

*This tuition fee may be subject to annual increases.

Scholarships

Approximately 50 words

We're committed to recognizing student excellence and investing in your future achievement. All accepted freshmen applicants are automatically considered for institutional scholarship and grant programs (there are no separate scholarship applications). In addition to general merit scholarships, Westminster offers additional scholarship programs. For more information visit our scholarship pages.

Next Steps

I like the look of this section on King's College London's site.

Upcoming Events

Maybe a widget or something that shows upcoming admissions events and updates automatically (King's College London did this).

Apply Now

This could just be a large, simple button. It could also be featured frequently throughout the page.

Extras:

- Request more information button throughout page
- Key information sidebar like King's College London
- Buttons to show more information about the program like Xavier's sequence
- Relevant stats and testimonials throughout